Presented by
APAC Board of Directors

2025

The Academy of Physician Associates in Cardiology (APAC) is a leading organization committed to supporting and enhancing the role of PAs in cardiology. Building a corporate relationship with us helps the PA profession and our organization prosper, while affording your company an exceptional venue for increased exposure and recognition. Support of APAC also helps advance the work of cardiology PAs, improving the quality and accessibility of care for all cardiovascular patients.

About Us

Since recognition as a Specialty Organization of the American Academy of Physician Associates (AAPA) in 2003, APAC has made considerable progress toward our goal of becoming the primary resource and advocate for all cardiology PAs. APAC collaborates with the AAPA and actively participates in the House of Delegates at their annual meeting to ensure representation of Cardiology PAs. APAC also works closely with the American College of Cardiology (ACC) and other national organizations to promote and advocate for increased utilization of PAs to provide high-quality, cost-effective care to patients with cardiovascular disease.
